WHAT THEY SAY

"...Dance Collection Danse's efforts to preserve and archive the vibrant and groundbreaking legacy of Canada's internationally acclaimed artists is as important to our culture as the creators' repertoire. I applaud them for their valiant efforts and for being such excellent caretakers of an often neglected art form. Canada's dance artists have often resonated our country's soul on every continent of the world with integrity and dignity. Lest we forget."

- Jean Grand-Maitre,
Artistic Director, Alberta Ballet

"...DCD is Canadian dance's anchor, prod and mirror. A vital part of Canada's arts landscape, its importance cannot be overstated. For making us aware of our history, DCD is a national treasure."

- Linde Howe-Beck, journalist

"As a dance educator and passionate follower of what has been and what is happening in dance, I can say that DCD has provided me with the context and information regarding dance in Canada. The website and the many published texts make resources available for our students and teachers."

- Ann Kipling Brown, PhD., retired arts education professor,
University of Regina
